IN COURT TODAY.

Cox Libel Case and That Against Dis- pensary to Be Tried.

Business in court has been moving along slowly today on account of the absence of important witnesses in several cases. The crowd has been greatly augmented today, however, more than at hundred witnesses in the Cox libel case being in attendance. This case (State vs. E. E. Cox and wife Mrs. O. F. Cox charged with libelling Section Master War, and wife of near James-town) is expected to come up this afternoon. The counsel for defense will try to prove that the male defendant is deceased and they expect to compromise in regard to the female defendant. Much interest is manifested in the case and the outcome is eagerly awaited. The defendants are represented by Col. John A. Barringer and ex-Judge S. B. Adams, and Bynum, Bynum & Taylor will assist the solicitor.

The case against the dispensary directors for selling whiskey to a minor is also expected to come up this afternoon. John N. Wilson, counsel for defense, stated in court this morning, that they would try to settle the case by reaching an understanding.

BACK FROM SCOTLAND.

Mr. J. L. Fonda Promoted and Will Leave Greensboro.

J. L. Fonda returned last night from Scotland, where he has been for the past month in the interests of the O. N. T. Spool Cotton Company, with whom he holds a responsible position. Mr. Fonda reports a pleasant trip and brings back the good news that he has again been promoted. During the present season he will look after the south's product of sea island cotton for his company. While the Telegram congratulates Mr. Fonda upon his promotion it regrets exceedingly to learn that it will necessitate the removal of his excellent family from Greensboro. His family will probably move to Savannah. Mr. Fonda will leave for that place next Monday to estimate on the crop and examine the quality. Mrs. Fonda will accompany him to select a home, though she will return and the family will not remove to their southern home until frost.

STILL RECRUITING.

Good Business at the Office--Five Men Left Last Night.

Lieutenant Douglas Settle continues to contract with patriotic boys who wish to serve their Uncle Samuel in the Philippines. The recruiting office here was the last one opened in the state but few, if any are doing a better business. All of which goes to show that the section around Greensboro is populated by fighting stock.

Five new recruits left last night for Camp Meade, Pa., to join the 24th regiment. As soon as this is filled it will be assigned to duty in the Philippines.

The new soldiers were: Thomas L. Badgett, of Belmont; John L. Wrenn, of Salem; Guy F. Wooten and James G. Wooten, of Winston; James Butler, of Windsor. More recruits were examined and sworn in today.

DECISION DEFERRED.

Ten Days for Filing Additional Briefs in Benbow Case.

Hon. John N. Wilson and others who went to Hende sonville to attend the hearing of the Benbow bankruptcy case before Judge Ewart on yesterday, returned last night. They report that Judge Ewart allowed ten days for the filing of additional briefs, and of course reserved his decision until after that time. Meantime the restraining order is continued.

This is a big fight and most likely the end is not yet in sight. Able counsel is employed on both sides and every inch will be contested. It is hoped that the fight will not be a long one, but of course it is one of those cases in which "there's no telling."

Growing and Moving.

The Odell Hardware Company has rented the Doggett building one door south of their main quarters and as soon as the Treadway bar fixtures can be removed and a few minor changes made in the shelving, etc., will move their plumbing department to this place. We are pleased to learn that the move is made necessary by the growth of the plumbing business which under the management of Mr. John Shanks has reached proportions that demand much larger quarters. Many improvements will be made in the plumbing department when it is located in its new home.

The city graded schools open Friday week, Sept. 1st. Your boys and girls will want school shoes, and Thacker & Brockmann want you to give their line an inspection before making your purchases. They make a specialty of children's shoes and can furnish you good reliable shoes at very moderate prices.

GENERAL MERCIER SQUIRMS

Under the Stern Cross-Examination of Labor.

A MOST SEARCHING QUESTION

"Why Were These Profits Concealed From Casimer-Perier?"--General Mercier's Silence.

By Cable to THE TELEGRAM.

Rennes, August 24--Labor's searching cross-examination made Colonel Manuel confess that the secret dossier was communicated to the court martial in 1891 by Colonel du Paty de Clam. Mercier revealed Labor questioned him in regard to the bringing of the secret document before the first court martial without the knowledge of the accused. Mercier lost his temper but said he took the entire responsibility of presenting the secret dossier to the first court martial. When asked if there were other proofs besides the dossier when the prisoner was arrested, he said there were. Labor then asked why these proofs were concealed from President Casimer-Perier. Mercier hotly refused to answer. Labor persisted with equal warmth, without result. Labor: "Why did you arrest Dreyfus?" Mercier: "Because of the greatness of his crime." When asked about the syndicate raising thirty-five million francs to clear Dreyfus, Mercier said that Freycinet formally told him of the existence of such a syndicate. When he was pressed to say how "formally," Mercier protested against the manner of the counsel, saying he was not the accused. Labor became equally excited. The audience jumped to their feet, fearing a personal encounter.

A BABEL OF TONGUES.

Rennes, August 24--At one time a great number of witnesses sprang to the platform, holding up their hands and clamoring to be heard, creating a babel. Mercier confessed with some replies tantamount to the confession that Sandherr and Hart had played with the minister of war and even with Gozse, some documents, he keeping from them what letters he pleased.

THREE PROMINENT ITALIANS

May Appear and Communicate Inter- estingly to the Court Martial.

By Cable to THE TELEGRAM.

Rome, August 21--Panizzardi, Schneider and Schwartzkopf, former military attaches of the Italian legation at Paris, may appear at the Rennes court martial. Panizzardi has received permission of the Italian government to apply to be heard, or, as an alternative, will publish a pamphlet to clear the point with which their names have been connected. No answer has as yet been returned, but the government will interrogate the Austrian and German cabinets to ascertain whether or not the three attaches take common action. It is believed the request of all three will be listened to at the Rennes court martial.

THE AGREEMENT MADE

With the Sulu Islanders After Five Weeks' Negotiations.

By Cable to THE TELEGRAM.
Manila, August 21--General Bates has returned from the Sulu islands, having successfully accomplished his mission. After five weeks' negotiations, the agreement was signed recognizing American sovereignty. The Sultan and his chiefs signed the agreement.

Disquieting Reports From Natal.

By Cable to THE TELEGRAM.

London, August 24--The Johannesburg correspondent of the Times says that disquieting reports have been received here from Natal. It is said that on Sunday a Johannesburg train was fired on in the Transvaal territory. The feeling near the border is bitter. Disloyal Natal Dutch are armed with Mausers.

Dewey Consents.

By Wire to THE TELEGRAM.

New York, August 24--A cablegram from Dewey today says he will arrive on September 23.

Entertaining Lectures.

Rev. Livingston Johnson, pastor of West Washington street Baptist church, in his lectures on "The Baptist Faith," is attracting large congregations. Though last night was only the second of the series, a large crowd, composed largely of young people, was in attendance and the lecture was unusually interesting. The subject of the lecture was "Religious Liberty, and What the Baptists had to do with it," and Mr. Johnson's discourse proved that he had studied his subject thoroughly. Though the lectures were prepared mainly for the information of the young people of the Baptist church, they are interesting to church people generally, for in his talks Mr. Johnson brings out much of obscure church history.

NOTES FROM HIGH POINT.

The Local News From Our Neighbor Briefly Told.

TELEGRAM BUREAU
HIGH POINT, N. C., August 24
Miss Ida Beeson returned to Greensboro last night.

Miss Etta Kearns, of Asheville, was a guest of this city yesterday.

Mrs. G. W. Spencer left on the 9:13 local last evening for Norfolk.

J. S. and Mrs. Pike were among the ex-ursonists to Norfolk last night.

"Jug" Ingram has returned from a pleasant journey at Jackson Springs.

J. C. Welch, the livvymen, returned from a business trip to Hickory last night.

O. A. Kirkman and wife took advantage of the special rate to Norfolk last night.

The water works question is being discussed considerably in High Point these days.

Miss Mary Anderson left on the 7:12 local last evening for a few days visit to Asheville.

Rev. P. L. Groom, of Greensboro, was a guest of this city yesterday. He has just returned from Baltimore.

We are glad to learn that the condition of Uncle Tommy Sechrist, who has been extremely ill is somewhat improved today.

Mrs. Fred N. Tate and Mrs. H. C. Field returned from Greensboro last evening, accompanied by Miss Laura Field, whom they visited.

Miss Beulah Best left on the 9:13 train last night for an extended visit to relatives and friends in the eastern part of the state, going first to Tarboro.

Cassie Rayford, a respected and industrious colored woman died rather suddenly at her home in the eastern part of the city Tuesday night. She was buried this morning.

Miss Florence O. Kennedy, of Guilford College and Vernon L. Brown, of this city, will be married the 30th of this month at 8:30 o'clock in Founders Hall at Guilford College.

The Misses Best gave a complimentary party last night to the Misses Wiggins, of Tarboro, who are visiting them. All the young people present spent a pleasant evening.

Claude C. Barbee was among the passengers from here last night enroute to Norfolk. From there he goes to Richmond, where he has accepted a position with a commercial house. Sorry to lose you, Claude, but wish you much luck.

The High Point trunk company is composed of hustling gentlemen. Last night they received an order for trunks that would make most any company with a factory of larger capacity feel good all over. Success to you gentlemen.

Mr. Ellis, the clever gentleman who has been assisting at the Jarrell since Uncle Nick's absence, has been called out on the road by the house he represents in Chicago. We are told that Mr. Slaughter will arrive home from Baltimore in a few days.

THE KEARSARGE FINISHED.

The New Battleship Soon to Have Her Trial Trip.

Unless some unforeseen hitch occurs the big battleship Kearsarge, which has been practically finished at the Norfolk shipyard, will be given her builders' trial trip September 4th. As this will be the first trial of a ship fitted with the superposed turrets, invented with the superposed turrets, the event will arouse more than usual interest in naval circles. All of the main battery of the Kearsarge is now in place and all that is lacking to put it in condition for the builders' trial is a few finishing touches. According to original contract the Kearsarge should have been delivered January 1st, of this year. On account of necessary delays, however, the yard has received ample extension of time.

You Can't Lose Him.

Mr. Bond, the sign painter who came to Greensboro a few days ago and who has located here, is an artist who has few equals. A few days ago he was in a store here and began talking of a gentleman for whom he had done some work in Salisbury. He tried hard to recall the gentleman's name but failed and finally said he remembered how he looked. He then drew paper and pencil from his pocket and in less than half a minute presented a picture of the gentleman's face. One of the party to whom he was talking recognized it at a glance and gave the name which Mr. Bond had forgotten. The latter gentleman remembered it perfectly then, but his display of skill soon turned the topic of conversation.

Mrs. Newlind--"I made these biscuits myself, John." Mr. Newlind--"Indeed!" "Yes; now don't you laugh at them." "Oh I wouldn't do that, my dear; it would be ridiculous for me to attempt to make light of them."

FLOGGING U. S. PRISONERS

At the North Carolina Penitenti- ary at Raleigh.

TEXAS SOLID FOR FREE SILVER

But There is Considerable Sentiment in Favor of Expansion in the Lone Star State.

Special to THE TELEGRAM.

Washington, August 24--Notwithstanding the recent instructions given by the department, from complaints received it would appear that the rule against the whipping of United States prisoners has been deliberately violated. Many complaints have been received recently, as announced in press dispatches, from the United States prisoners confined at the state penitentiary at Raleigh, North Carolina. Some time ago when similar complaints were received at Washigton, the authorities of the penitentiary claimed, as was then alleged, that they had the right to flog the prisoners for violations of the rules of the prison. This authority was denied by the attorney general, who issued instructions to all of the prisons where United States prisoners are confined prohibiting them from laying the lash on such prisoners.

At the department of justice inquiry was made concerning the report of the complaints coming from Raleigh. It is admitted that a number of such complaints have been received here from the United States prisoners. The attorney general is of the opinion that the prison authorities do not possess the power to punish the United States prisoners in the manner referred to, and it is said at the department that the instructions to discontinue the practices was plain, and not to be misunderstood. If upon inquiry it is found that there have been infractions of the rules set down by the attorney general and the department of justice, it is the opinion of the officials who were seen, that steps will be taken to have an investigation made into the affair.

In the matter of the complaints received, nothing has been done as yet, but if they are reasonably substantiated, it is likely an inspector will be sent to Raleigh to look into the matter of the complaints.

Ex-Representative David B. Culbertson of Texas, is in the city for a few days, stopping at the Metropolitan Hotel. For many years Judge Culbertson was one of the best known public men in Washington from the south, and was one of the most commanding figures on the democratic side of the house. As a leader he was always conservative in his views, deliberate in his judgment, and was often appealed to by his associates in matters requiring calm consideration and judgment.

Judge Culbertson was seen in the lobby of the hotel, and discussed political issues in the Lone Star State. He said the state is for Bryan, being pre-eminently a free silver state. The silver sentiment there, he says, is as strong as it was four years ago, and a solid silver delegation will be sent to the national convention. The judge stated that there is a considerable sentiment in Texas in favor of the United States extending its territorial arm in the east, but that this sentiment will not operate against the state remaining heavily democratic in national elections. "As long as silver is the issue," said Judge Culbertson, "there is no doubt as to how Texas will vote."

In spite of their political differences, there was much good fellowship between Judge Culbertson and Speaker Reed, while the former was in Congress. There was much in common between the Texas statesman and the big man from Maine. Both are fond of good stories, and they spent much time together sitting in the rear of the hall, or in the lobby back of the house swapping yarns, surrounded by a group of fellow members. The presence of Judge Culbertson in Washington, and the resignation of the speaker, coming simultaneously, brings a flood of recollection of the days when the presence of both was felt on the floor of the lower house.

L. F. Wilson, who owns a fine ranch in Northwest Texas, is in Washington for a few days. In speaking of different topics, he said the cattle business of Texas is flourishing. Unlike what it used to be, he says that the business is now being conducted upon a substantial basis. Mr. Wilson says that if rain only fell in sufficient quantities in that section of Texas, that it would be a magnificent agricultural country. As it is, he said that a fairly good crop was raised last year.

Ex-secretary of the navy, Herbert, who has resided in Washington City since the close of the Cleveland administration, has gone to Greenbrier White Sulphur Springs, of West Virginia, where he will remain for a few weeks during the late summer season. Commissioner Kolner, of Virginia, is in the city for a few days, stopping at the St. James Hotel. He was formerly commissioner of agriculture for North Carolina, but recently accepted a similar position in the state of Virginia. He is in the city on official business connected with the state. Miss Bertha James, of Charlotte, is in the city for a few days, visiting friends. W. H. Ryan, of North Carolina, is stopping at the Metropolitan Hotel. Mary C. Darby has received her commission as postmistress at Wilmington. The commission is dated August 4th. She has qualified for the office.

THE OFFICE TO BE ABOLISHED.

Attack Upon the Postmaster at Peck, Fla., to Be Averted.

Washington, August 23--The postoffice at Peck, Fla., will probably be discontinued as a result of the attack upon the postmaster there Monday night. Postmaster Crum and National Committeeman Long have advised it, and Crum, in a letter in which he says he accepted the office because no one else there could qualify for it and that those making the trouble rarely use the mails, has asked to be relieved immediately. Postmaster Crum says the stamp cancellations on which his salary is based amounted to $277 last month and 20 cents for the first five days this month. He has never spent one continuous day at the office, he says, as he lives at Tampa, and he employed assistants. Postmaster General Smith today ordered a postoffice inspector detailed from the Chattanooga headquarters to proceed immediately to Peck, investigate and report the situation. He said if the account of the whitecapping as published is confirmed he will take prompt and decisive action. This means discontinuing the postoffice.

PORTO RICANS AS SOLDIERS.

An Officer Says They Will Do--They Are Obedient and Ready to Learn.

Washington August 23--According to recent advice received at the war department the experiment of enlisting natives of the West Indies into the American army has proved quite successful in the case of the Porto Rican battalion of United States volunteers, which body completed its organization a few weeks ago. This battalion is commanded by Major L. P. Davidson, and is the only one of its kind in the army. Lieutenant Briand, who is the battalion adjutant, has written a letter to Major Johnson, of the adjutant general's office, speaking in high praise of the composition of the battalion. He says that the Porto Rican soldiers are a fine lot of men, obedient and willing to learn; they take great pride in being soldiers of the United States army and always dress very clean and neat. His opinion is that Porto Rican boys offered by Americans will be a success and a valuable addition to the United States army.

SCHOONER LOST.

Crew Took to the Boats and Were Afterward Picked Up.

Newport News, Va., August 22--Information of the loss of the four-masted schooner Augustus Palmer, Captain Haskell, of Bath, Me., which sailed from this port, August 13th, reached here today. The schooner struck on the tail of the Horseshoe, off Humber Shoals, Chesapeake Bay, at 11 o'clock Saturday and sank half an hour later. Captain Haskell and the crew of the schooner took to the boats and were afterwards picked up by the Maryland pilot boat Pilot. The schooner is a total loss. Negro's Hair Should Stay Kinky. Atlantic City, N. J., August 22--The Baptist national colored congress opened its annual session in this city this morning. The meeting was called to order by Rev. Elijah Jenkins, of this city, who said that the time had arrived in the history of the negro race that they should work to elevate themselves and to do something to bring to an end lawlessness and lynching, particularly in the south. Quite a sensation was caused by Miss G. H. Hoggers, of Philadelphia, who said: "Seek not to improve on God's original, for God knew His business when he made the negro black, and he should not seek to get white by using cosmetics. Any one who seeks to straighten his hair and make himself white is simply insulting God."

Only 3,000,000 Bales in Texas.

St. Louis, August 23--A Post-Dispatch special from Dallas, Tex., says the hot winds of the past month have destroyed all chance of a large Texas cotton crop. Reports from the northern and central sections state that not more than an average of a quarter of a bale will be made to the acre, which indicates not over 3,000,000 for the entire state.

A Wilkes Man Who Stays at Home.

Mr. "Toney" Parks, of Ronda, who is 45 years old, was in town yesterday for the second time in his life. He went in the court house for the first time. He lives only 14 miles from here and we doubt if there is a man of his age in the state who can produce such a record.

A PICTURE WANTED.

Perhaps there will be fun in the next campaign in Guilford county! There will probably be something in it besides fun, too. But certain parties are already laughing over the fun to be had out of a picture of Representative Kennett, manager of the dispensary, and Wash Donnell, the colored porter, which, it is claimed, some enterprising photographer has been engaged to make for campaign purposes. The story goes that the picture must represent Mr. Kennett and Wash standing side by side selling the ardent.

No doubt. And it will be rich fun. It will be side splitting, rip-roaring and irrepressible. It is hinted that there may be lugubrious features intermingled, just enough to keep the joke from killing folks.

This may all be astonishing to most people, but when you reflect a moment and remember that it is the first time on record, since Ham was a passenger on Noah's excursion boat, that a white man and a negro have been seen standing "side by side" you can see and appreciate the force of the joke. It is a joke. Don't forget that.

We have thought that every day thousands of white and colored men were laboring "side by side", but maybe we are mistaken. In fact, we have believed that we could see such a state of things any day in the week, right here in Greensboro, in many callings; but guess it is all a mistake, and that our eyes have been in an eclipse.

We have thought, and previous to this time would have taken a solemn oath on it, that it was nothing unusual to see colored porters assisting white hotel clerks in caring for the guests; but reckon no one else has seen it, and it may be untrue.

People who hold up their hands in abject horror because Wash is allowed to work in the dispensary with Mr. Kennett, perhaps, don't know that Wash worked in one of the old-fashioned bar-rooms with a white man and has the reputation of being quite an expert in concocting and serving drinks. No doubt Wash has many a time handled the syrups, ices, mint and spirits to make fancy drinks for some of the same men who relish this "joke" most. It was all right then. People passing the street could not see Wash waiting on them, and could not see the humiliation of the white gentleman who stood with him behind the bar!

But it is different now. Wash can no longer serve the gentlemen in the good old way, and the fact is galling. And the republicans have noticed that Mr. Kennett is working in the same establishment in which a negro is employed! That's good. Republicans can easily forget that all their lives they have been locked arms with the negro to beat the democrats, and that they have held office along with him. But wait for something new—the picture that is to appear!

Mr. McKinley hopes to find the greater part of his new volunteers in Pennsylvania and Kansas. The southern boys are not so loyal in the enterprise of conquest as their northern brethren. There is getting to be a good deal of conscience in this business, too.

THE REPUBLICAN EFFORT.

The following is from the Raleigh correspondent of the Charlotte Observer:

Three weeks ago a republican here, speaking in a confidential way, said there was a movement to oust J. B. Fortune as clerk of the United States district court here, and the real reason for it was complaint by certain republicans that a western man was not entitled to such a place. There has always been more or less strain about this. When Fortune was questioned about the matter he said he had heard of it. But Fortune, like William H. Chadbourne, has expressed himself in a very vigorous way as favoring negro disfranchisement as this correspondence last November, only a few days after the election, will plainly show. But he was not alone then in that belief, nor is he now. The fact is republican officials of all classes will vote much more largely for the amendment than their party believes. Mountain men say they feel mighty little interest in the negro as a voter. The republican effort is therefore all directed towards the one object of making them believe that they, too, will be disfranchised. There is republican "bush-whacking" now along this line.

Every intelligent person who has bestowed any attention whatever upon the constitutional amendment question, knows perfectly well that no white man will be deprived of his right of suffrage by the operation of the new voting law. While a large number of well informed republicans will cast their ballots for the amendment, the great body of white members of that party will listen to the misrepresentations of the republican leaders and will, owing to their ignorance, vote solidly against it. And woe will fall upon those office-holding republicans who have the courage to stand by their honest convictions, as is demonstrated by the case of the unfortunate Fortune whose head is soon to fall.

That peculiar and ominous municipal malady known in plain parlance as "midsummer dullness," which many towns complain of at this season of the year, and which is a very dangerous symptom, does not now cannot live in the healthful atmosphere of our city of Greensboro. Our merchants and our manufacturers, our professional men, and laborers, and tradesmen and citizens all have in common a remedy which is miraculous in its curative powers. Midsummer dullness or any other old kind of dullness succumbs to its influence immediately. And the beautiful part is that it was concocted right here in our midst by the combined energy, patience, hard work, brains, money and skill of our matchless people. The name of this potent remedy is "Prosperity."

It's Oom Paul, now. It will be Boom, Paul, later.

WILL DURHAM REPUDIATE?

A Question Involving the Validity of Millions of Bonds in N. C. Towns.

A special to the Charlotte Observer from Durham this morning says: Mr. J. S. Manning, of this city, leading counsel for the Union Bank, of Richmond, Va., in the noted Oxford bond case, which was recently decided adversely to the bank, has been notified by the bank people to appeal from the decision of the Circuit Court of Appeals to the United States Supreme Court. The United Circuit Court decided this case in favor of the bank and against the town, but the Circuit Court of appeals reversed this decision. This case involves the validity of $20,000 bonds of the town of Oxford, issued in aid of Oxford & Coast Line railroad. The courts hold that the bonds are invalid because the "yeas" and "noes" were not recorded on the second and third readings of the bill, as required by the constitution of North Carolina. This decision was the first case in which the Supreme Court of the State passed on this point, and but for it the vast repudiation of bonds all over North Carolina, as evidenced in the noted Stanley county case, and the Wilkes county and Buncombe county cases, would in all probability, never have been heard of so I was informed by a well known attorney today. It is estimated, besides that $1,500,000 of bonds, issued by the various towns and counties of North Carolina, are null and void if this decision of the Circuit Court of Appeals and the decision in the Stanley county case are sustained by the United States Supreme Court.

The question here now is will the county and town of Durham catch the repudiating fever and refuse some of her bonds? The circumstances connected with the issuing of $6,000 bonds to aid the Lynchburg Durham railroad, are identical with the Stanley county case. Hence, if this case is sustained in the nation's highest court it will be left optional with the authorities here whether they pay off the bonds or not. It is the consensus of opinion here, however, that these bonds would be paid by the town, even if the courts were to declare that there was no way to prohibit the authorities from repudiating their obligations.

FRENCH JUDICATURE.

There is no Evidence Whatever Against Dreyfus.

It is hard to imagine anything as absurd as the proceedings in the Dreyfus case. It is to be remembered that Dreyfus is supposed to be on trial for treason in furnishing secrets of the French war office, where he was on duty, to foreign governments. We say that this is supposed, though so far as we have seen there has been no indictment of the accused informing him specifically of what is alleged against him that he may prepare to disprove the charge. We may fairly assume, however, from everything taken together that the court understands that it is trying Dreyfus for treason in furnishing military secrets to the Germans. This being so, let us consider for a moment a brief extract from the testimony given by Captain Junck last Wednesday. It is as follows: Captain Junck testified that he and Dreyfus were fellow probationers in the war office, which fact gave him an opportunity to watch Dreyfus' conduct and he then continued thus:

He saw the prisoner a great deal and detailed conversations in which he alleged Dreyfus spoke of great sums he had lost in gambling and in intercourse with loose women.

"One day," the witness proceeded, "when we were visiting the Concourse Hippique, we met three immoral women who bowed to us. Dreyfus returned the greeting, when I said to him: 'Well, for a married man, you have nice acquaintances.'"

"He replied that they were old friends of his bachelorhood and, pointing to one of them, said her name was Voltesse, and that she had a house on the Champ Elysee, where she gave nice parties, where pretty women were to be met and where there was much gambling."

Now will any one suggest how this evidence could have any tendency to prove either that Dreyfus did communicate secrets of the war office to Germany or that he did not? Grant that it has a tendency to prove that Dreyfus was an immoral man, but it does not follow that an immoral man is also a traitor, nor would it follow that a man was destitute of patriotism or that he actually did sell war secrets to the German government. Dreyfus is being prosecuted for the specific act of selling secrets, and though he were as bad as old Nick himself he is not to be convicted of selling war office secrets to the Germans unless he actually did sell them. We had no sort of conception of French methods of procedure in court until this case was exploited before the world, but now that we get a glimpse of that procedure all intelligent men must unite in saying that it is the most absurd scheme of action any human beings ever subjected themselves to. How any result is ever reached under such a process is hard to understand.

If Junck could tell of Dreyfus' amours then Dreyfus must be given leave to introduce evidence to show that he did not do what Junck charges him with, and the trial will then switch off from an investigation of whether Dreyfus sold secrets to the Germans into an inquiry as to whether he coquetted with females at the Concourse Hippique, and as collateral issues spring up while the main investigation was on hand, so other collateral issues may well spring up while this collateral inquiry is being conducted, and so the court may very readily be drawn altogether away from the main inquiry into an investigation of matters that no man on earth cares a cent about. French judicial procedure passes all understanding.

But it is hard to understand how even French procedure can convict Dreyfus. We have carefully read the evidence as it has been sent to this country, and, with the exception of the forged bordereau, we cannot see one item of evidence against him. All else is gossip, tit-bit, suspicion and surmise.—Richmond Times.

Bucklen's Arnica Salve.

The best salve in the world for cuts, bruises, sores, ulcers, salt rheum, fever sores, tetter, chapped hands, chilblains, corns, and all skin eruptions, and positively cures piles or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box. For sale by C. E. Holton.

One way to cure hiccoughs is to sign the pledge.

You assume no risk when you buy Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. C. E. Holton will refund your money if you are not satisfied after using it. It is every where admitted to be the most successful remedy in use for bowel complaint and the only one that never fails. It is pleasant, safe and reliable.

A disabbling salesman is a counterfeiter.

"Our baby was sick for a month with severe cough and catarrhal fever. Although we tried many remedies she kept getting worse until we used One Minute Cough Cure—it relieved at once and cured her in a few days."—B. L. Nance, Prin. High School, Bluffdale, Texas. Howard Gardner.

The mosquito is pretty good in an argument, for he always carries his point.

All weak places in your system effectually closed against disease by DeWitt's Little Early Risers. They cleanse the bowels, promptly cure chronic constipation, regulate the liver, and fill you with new life and vigor. Small, pleasant, sure; never gripe. Howard Gardner.

Is It Right for an Editor to Recommend Patent Medicines?

From Sylvan Valley News, Brevard, N. C.

It may be a question whether the editor of a newspaper has the right to publicly recommend any of the various proprietary medicines which flood the market, yet as a duty to say a good word for Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. We have known and used this remedy in our family for twenty years and have always found it reliable. In many cases a dose of this remedy would save hours of suffering while a physician is awaited. We do not believe in depending implicitly on any medicine for a cure, but we do believe that if a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy were kept on hand and administered at the inception of an attack much suffering might be avoided and in very many cases the presence of a physician would not be required. At least this has been our experience during the past twenty years. For sale by C. F. Holton, druggist.

No Cure—No Pay.

That is the way all druggists sell Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic for Chills and Malaria. It is simply iron and quinine in a tasteless form. Children love it. Adults prefer it to bitter, nauseating tonics. Price, 50c.

No, Maud, dear, the female horned horse at the Joo can't be called a Gnu woman.

Hamilton Clarke, of Chauncy, Ga., says he suffered with itching piles twenty years before trying DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve, two boxes of which completely cured him. Beware of worthless and dangerous counterfeits. Howard Gardner.

BRIEF LOCAL MATTERS.

See the knock-about hat at Kadman's. Fifty and seventy-five cents.

Judge and Mrs. John Gray Byrum returned this morning from a visit to Atlantic City, N. J.

R. E. McIver, of Jonesboro, passed through the city at noon returning home from Murphy.

Messrs. Winslow and Overman, of Goldsboro, are in the city on business. They are stopping at the Allen.

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Norman, of Raleigh, passed through the city at noon returning home from a short stay at their farm near Lexington.

Charlie Hudson, who has just recovered from an attack of fever, went to White Sulphur Springs yesterday, to remain until he regains his strength.

Rev. R. W. Weaver, one of our own city boys, now filling a pulpit in Ohio, will preach at the First Presbyterian church at 10:30 a. m. next Sabbath.

Rev. W. L. Grissom returned at noon today from Meisenheimer Springs, in the western part of the state. Mrs. Grissom will remain at the Springs a few days longer.

The young people of the Baptist church have postponed their call on pastor Johnson from tonight to tomorrow night. All of the young people of the church and congregation are cordially invited to call then at his home on Eugene St.

We learn today that the late Dr. W. S. Creasy, of Winston, carried $8,000 insurance on his life. It is also understood that Mrs. Creasy and children will move to Wilmington to reside permanently, as soon as the necessary arrangements can be made.

The pawnbrokers had their opening sale yesterday morning at 11 o'clock, and a second sale at 8 last night. There was a large attendance, and a fine lot watches and jewelry was sold. This sale will continue every day at 11 a. m., and 3:30 and 8 p. m., 344 South Elm street. J. R. Pierce, auctioneer, Dave Rouch, assistant.

SAMUEL COOK KILLED.

Young Danvillian Meets Death on the Rail at Mayodan.

Samuel Cook, a young man of Danville, passed through Greensboro yesterday morning returning to Mayodan, where he held a position as book-keeper and treasurer for the contractor on the new cotton mill in course of construction there. At 5:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon he met a horrible death on the railroad in Mayodan. It seems that young Cook, not realizing how fast the train was running, jumped off when it was near the station at Mayodan. The speed of the train was such that he was thrown to the ground and received a blow that resulted in his death in a short while. The remains will be sent to Danville tonight, for interment.

When he met his death Mr. Cook was returning from a visit to his parents in Danville.

Sojourning in the Mountains.

Mr. J. C. Wharton, of this city, who is spending the summer in Marion, McDowell county, sends us the following item:

Miss Emily M. Coe, the originator of the American Kindergarten system, and member of the faculty of Red Springs Seminary, N. C., also editor and publisher of the American Kindergarten Magazine, is at Roy Cottage, Sunset Drive. E. Burke Collins, the well-known story writer, who is connected with several leading magazines and papers in New York, Philadelphia and Chicago, and who is the author of "The Modern Heathen," also makes her home for the present at Roy Cottage.

An Enjoyable Party.

Mrs. O. C. Wysong entertained a few young friends at her home, on West Lee street, last evening, in honor of her sister, Miss Ella Barringer, who is visiting here. The evening was very pleasantly spent at various kinds of amusements. At 10 o'clock delightful refreshments, consisting of creams, cakes and fruits, were served and a short while afterward the guests departed for their homes.

Those present were: Misses Lizzie Sergeant, Linda Wharton, Kate Pugh and Roberta Lampman; and Messrs. Will McGill, Harry Murray, Louis Donnell and Tom Beall.

There are nearly two months yet in which your little girls can wear oxfords and sandals, and Thacker & Brockmann will sell you a pair at cost or less. Go and see them.
